FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
CANCER SUPPORT COMMUNITY WELCOMES NEW PROGRAM STAFF

Haylee Nix, LMSW

Kelly O'Neal, MSW, LCSW

Haylee Nix accepted the position of Programming Manager and Kelly O'Neal accepted the position of Program Specialist, it was recently announced by Lori Thaman, Executive Director of Cancer Support Community of Great St. Louis (CSCSTL).

Haylee Nix is a licensed master's social worker (LMSW) and as part of her master level programming education was previously an intern at CSCSTL. She will be leading all programming efforts. Kelly O'Neal is a licensed clinical social worker (LCSW) and rejoined the team after previously leading programming efforts for CSCSTL for 6 years. She will focus her efforts on specialty programs, including the Families Connect and the Jason Brightfield Young Adult programs.

"We are very excited to welcome both Haylee and Kelly to our team, particularly now as we are expanding by offering hybrid programming after almost two years of virtual programming," explained Thaman. "What's more, we will soon begin offering select programming in both English and Spanish, including a new program on how cancer impacts sleep," Thaman concluded.
